g) Event Description: Free medical camps aim to bring awareness amongst the deprived population of various areas which have no access to basic healthcare services or knowledge about disease they are suffering from. These kinds of health care camps ensure people are getting the right health care at the right time. These kinds of medical health camps are organized by health care professionals to carry out a limited health intervention amongst the underprivileged community. Poor and needy people attend these camps to get free check ups and treatments.

Hence, the moral objective of these kinds of medical health camps is to provide initial care to people in life threatening conditions which reflects the unique strengths and goals of medical ethics.

Now in this above mentioned context, ECL, under its CSR policy is providing free medical health camps at various villages in surrounding places of its Areas to give free or subsidised health checkup and medicine and helping the Government to eradicate many disease as preventive healthcare enhances health and promote equality by benefitting mostly the disadvantaged and marginalized group.

In this context , a health care camp organized at kumadihi village by Bankola Area of ECL. Awareness regarding health and hygiene and health checkup of villagers who attended the camp was done successfully. Medicines were distributed free of cost to the needy patients. Total of 92 beneficiaries were benefitted.
