g) Event Description:

When we segregate waste, it reduces the amount of waste that reaches landfills, thereby taking up less space. Pollution of air and water can be considerably reduced when hazardous waste is separated and treated separately. It is essential that waste is put in separate bins so that it can be appropriately dealt with. Under the Waste Regulations 2011, we must segregate paper, cardboard, plastic, metal and glass at source unless it is technically or economically unfeasible. Under the same regulations, we should implement the waste hierarchy; reduce, reuse, recycle, other recovery and disposal. By law, we should implement this hierarchy and segregation helps with recycling in particular. Hence, 6 numbers of waste bins were distributed and placed at prominent location in the residential complex of rohini housing colony, where employees of CIL reside.
