g) Event Description:

A handloom essentially means any other loom besides the power loom. However, in 2012 this definition was expanded to also incorporate the hybrid loom where at least one weaving process requires manual or human intervention. There are basically three different kinds of looms that weavers use manually. They are the pit looms, stand loom and frame loom. Yarn is the 'thread' that is used to make the cloth or fabric. The dyeing of the yarn is an important activity before actual weaving or looming. The texture of the hand woven fabric varies from that of a mill or machine made fabric. 7th August holds a special significance. It was in 1905 on 7th August that the Swadeshi Movement acquired momentum. With the Bengal partition, a formal proclamation came about at the Calcutta Town Hall that boycotted all foreign made goods. The idea was to concentrate and encourage local products. The government in 2015 introduced the National Handloom Day to stimulate and acknowledge weavers and local artisans. CIL celebrated national handloom day by display of sale cum exhibition of handloom bedsheets, sarees and women and men wear under the hashtag#myhandloommypride
